WHY NOT THE T. C.?

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad in this state is lending the farmers aid in improving their cattle. When the farmers of any county decide on the breed of cattle they wish to raise and purchase a certain number of pure blood females, the railroad then furnishes a pure blood sire of that breed to the farmers free.

That is assistance of the kind that counts. It is an excellent investment for the railroad and encouragement of the kind that brings quick returns. The Tennessee Central could not do anything that would bring larger returns in a short time than to follow in the footsteps of the N. C. & St. L. If our farmers would take the matter up with the T. C. at once such an arrangement might be perfected for the cattle interests of this county. At any event it is worth trying.

In most counties the bank loans money to the farmers at six per cent to buy the pure blood cows and we do not think that the bank here would be backward in such a movement, if they could once be convinced that our farmers are in earnest and intend to push the matter with energy and by a united action. It will take organization and united action to ever bring benefits of large proportions out of such a movement. It rests with our farmers to show their interest and there is little doubt that the thing can be successfully carried out.

SENATORIAL RACE.

The race for United States senator has about reached white heat. The Tennessean, the paper owned by Senator Luke Lea, has been devoting many columns to the advocacy of the cause of the senator ever since the campaign opened and especially the past few days.

Taking the statement of Senator Lea for the result, he has had the race won for some time. That he will receive a strong vote there can be no doubt, yet some claim he will not be in the runoff, but that would seem to be eliminating a man of his vigor and resourcefulness most too rapidly to accord with reason and cool judgement.

That former governor Patterson will receive a good vote is without question. Some have such faith in the outcome as to claim there will be no runoff because Patterson will get more votes than both Lea and McKellar. That, too, would seem to be according to the ex-governor more vote getting ability than reason would warrant.

In Congressmen McKellar many democrats see the harmonizer of the democratic party and for that reason they will support him. It is generally accepted as a fact that in the event McKellar gets into the runoff he will be the party nominee and be elected without opposition. But there is such an intense feeling against Lea that many persons who would prefer to vote for McKellar will vote for Patterson as the surest way to defeat Lea.

About the only sure thing that can be said about McKellar is, that in the event the leaders feel he has a good chance to get into the runoff no effort will be made to deflect the vote from him to Patterson. In the event it is sent "down the line" to vote for Patterson if the defeat of Lea is to be assured, McKellar is pretty sure to lose out and not get into the runoff. To prevent such a belief being established to any degree will be the effort of the McKellar people, while it will be the

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell."

I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good.

I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it."

Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century.

Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.

Write to: Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions on your case and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," in plain wrapper. N. C. 124 effort of the Patterson supporters to establish that as strongly as possible in the minds of the anti-Lea voters.

There is not much likelihood of the real result becoming known as to who really is in the lead before Sunday, unless Patterson or McKellar slump heavily.

With Patterson and Lea in the race the odds seem in favor of Patterson. With Lea and McKellar in the runoff, the odds seem strongly in favor of McKellar.

The election will come off Saturday and a light vote is predicted for the state as a whole. The election is not liable to be held at more than six or seven of the twenty-three precincts of this county.

Mr. Small Farmer, have you ever given a thought to the difference in the assessment of your small holdings as compared with the holdings of the non-resident land owner who is doing nothing for the development of this section? If you have not it would be interesting to make the comparison.

You are doing what is done to develop this section and the non-resident land owner expects to reap abundantly from the developments you make. Is he carrying his share of the burdens? If so, all right, but if he is not, should there not be something done to equalize matters? Think it over and then act, as your judgement and sense of fairness dictates.

However, be fair and do not allow your acts to go to the length of increasing taxes for the non resident to such an extent as makes it impossible for him to own land here. Make his burdens fair and at the same time be willing to bear your equal part.

In the words of former President Roosevelt: "If we are not just as careful to see that the other fellow gets what belongs to him as we are to get what belongs to us, the settlement will not last."

THE COMING CONGRESS.

Congress will convene on the first Monday in December.

Confronting it is a condition of things that warrants the closest attention, a situation in which partisanship may well be put aside, for the situation has not to do with parties, but with the laws of business and of trade.

Today business is not normal. And this is in spite of the fact that this country has good crops, which have sold at better than an average price. There is a large foreign balance of trade and the banks are carrying large balances.

In other times such elements would not only be an indication of property, but positive proof.

It is this abnormal situation is induced by war it is for Congress to determine in what respect trade and business is affected and influenced.

Certainly the war has started more looms and factories than it has stopped. Wheat, cotton and live stock are worth more on the market today than in years and with the exception of a temporary interruption of the export business, which should be adjusted within a reasonable length of time through the negotiations opened between the United States and Great Britain.

The money of this country is not going abroad. The tide of finance is in the opposite direction. The international books of trade show the largest balance the United States has ever had.

Yet there is a certain well-defined timidity on the part of capital. It is the duty of Congress to diagnose the case and apply the remedy, if there is one. If new laws are necessary they should be passed with a wholesome desire apart from political expediency for a restoration of confidence and prosperity. If laws now on the statute books are an impediment and an obstacle they should be removed. At any rate, everyone engaged in business knows that something stands in the way of normal conditions, and the earlier business men realize what that something is the better they will be able to cope with it.

Two elements in Congress are contending over the problems of whether the country is afflicted with too much or too little legislation. This is a matter to be adjusted between themselves. There is another element that believes the present demoralized condition of business is the result of a readjustment and change that was brought on by the upheaval of war. If that proposition is sound, time and patience and plenty of confidence are necessary for the successful solution of the problem.

In any event Congress has before it a problem requiring wisdom and foresight and an abundance of study, and while the country is looking to it for relief it should be remembered that prosperity is not based on legislation, though legislation may promote or hinder.—Nashville Banner.

When one remembers that the present business depression began more than two years ago and before the war was thought of, it is easy to see that the war is not the cause of present business depression.

Factories began to shut down, the saw and handle mills began to close and lumber prices were shrinking rapidly more than two years ago and before the war was thought of.

When it is remembered that the manufacturing interests of the country were depressed and began to cease work because of the Democratic low tariff long before the war was heard of, it should be easy for any person of common ability to see that low tariff is the cause of present slow business conditions.

The Banner should have gone the full length and made a full confession, then the reasons for the present business conditions would have been as clear to it as to most people. But the Banner is Democratic and it cannot go the whole length.

W. B. Peters and sister, Miss Bertha, were in Monterey last week having dental work done.

H. E. Rose and Frank Perkins were here Thursday taking insurance.

We have had a beautiful fall. Every body is at work. Potato crops have been bountiful, while corn is not as good as it was last year.

Hogs in this section are fine and accurs plentiful. People have had to keep their cattle up on account of acorns, while several head of cattle died before they realized acorns were falling so fast.

Shade Beaty passed Saturday with his wife. He was taking her to a hospital for an operation.

J. M. Peters is in Jamestown.

John Young had a stroke of paralysis a few days ago, rendering him unable to speak or swallow. Dr. Joe Lockhart is giving him special care, having called Dr. Rhea Sunday for consultation.

All the children were called to his bedside, thinking his recovery doubtful. He is now some better, can talk some and swallow liquids. We hope for his full recovery, while he is about 64 years old and it is not likely he will ever be in good health again.

James Young, of Algood, was here last week.

Woody

J. W. Linkous preached here Sunday night.

Mrs. James Woody died at her home Friday night and the remains were buried in the old Woody cemetery Sunday. She leaves a husband and five little ones. The entire community extends sympathy.

M. Scarbrough, of Harriman, has moved to our neighborhood.

J. L. Savage is erecting a new dwelling on his 40-acre tract near here.

Mrs. John Reed, of Crossville, has been the guest of her father, T. M. North, recently.

The Woody church is contemplating a new church house, to be built in the near future.

A. D. Woody, of Nashville, is buying a car load of hogs here. Mr. Woody is known as a live stock and potato man and is doing a great thing for the people in the way of giving them a market.

Mrs. Wallace Tabor left for Nebraska last week to visit her parents. She will perhaps spend the winter with them. She was accompanied by her two daughters, Lillie and Roselle. Mr. Tabor also accompanied them as far as Nashville.

The writer is an advocate for good roads and a better school system and every other enterprise that is for the upbuilding of our country. These things should engage the minds and every effort possible of the citizens of Cumberland county. The question is not "What can we do?" but, "What will we do, and what must we do to accomplish the good things of a wise people?" The opportunity is ours, let us make it the awakening period of good things.

A PINE WHOOPING COUGH REMEDY.

Mothers, Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey is just the remedy for your children's cold ailments. The fact is that pine is a quick enemy of cold conditions. Its qualities loosen the mucous in the throat, soothe the lungs and open up the air passages. The combination of honey, soothing and pleasant, with the loosening pine quality makes this an ideal cough remedy for children. Each passing year brings for it, new friends. A family of growing children cannot afford to be without it. 25c a bottle. 3

Sutton.

Elby Hale, wife of J. A. Hale, died Friday morning, November fifth, after thirteen months of intense suffering with a cancer in her head. She was a member of the church of Christ for about thirty-five years; lived a devoted Christian and those who knew her longest loved her best. She leaves a father and five sisters, a husband and eight children and a host of friends to mourn her loss. Rev. Vance Burgess conducted the funeral services, after which the remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at Linaria. She was fifty-two years, nine months and eight days old when death came. The people here extend to the bereaved family, the most heartfelt sympathy. Uncle Dan Manning has not been well for a few days, but is better now. T. F. Hall is sick at this writing. D. C. Patton and several of the young folks of Linaria attended church at Oak Grove last Sunday.

Tom Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sullivan were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Patton the last of the week.

Mrs. D. C. Patton visited her niece, Mrs. George Tollett, Friday of last week.
